

Mitigations

Calibration testing focuses on throughput measured from the client (load-generation) equipment. Monitoring resource usage—including CPU, network, and memory—on both the client and server during a calibration test can help identify and diagnose performance issues within the test itself.

If you have any feedback on this topic, please contact us at documentation@appvance.ai

Revision #4

Created 2026-07-31 15:09:27 UTC by Admin

Updated 2026-08-13 20:28:50 UTC by mmora