

Configure ant to run Blueprints from Jenkins

Similarly, projects can also be created to run AISG based on templates.

blueprintDashboard would be the ant target that would be used to create a dashboard for the AISG which internally will call targets like report upload, AISG creation, etc.

Once the initial AISG is created, the Blueprint template exported from file menu options would be the input that would be used for the re-creation of the AISG in everyone runs or as scheduled.
